Top Russians Greet Briton At Leningrad

Reception Is Surprise To Macmillan After Criticism by Mikoyan

LENINGRAD (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan arrived in Leningrad today to find a surprise top-level Soviet delegation waiting to greet him. It was headed by First Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Mikoyan and Gromyko flew to Leningrad from Moscow with British Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly. Macmillan flew in from Kiev.

A British spokesman said Macmillan had no advance notice that Mikoyan was joining him for his two-day visit to Leningrad.

Plans Mentioned Earlier

A British official said that Mikoyan had mentioned earlier in the week that he might come to Leningrad but, as in the case of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's trip to Kiev, the British were later told those plans had been dropped. Khrushchev canceled a trip to Kiev with the British leader, pleading he had to see a dentist about a toothache. That same day he received an Iraqi delegation at the Kremlin, and many observers said Khrushchev had a "diplomatic toothache."

Mikoyan was in a gay mood as he waited on the ramp and greeted Macmillan. Both exchanged friendly remarks before Macmillan went off with Leningrad officials to inspect a brightly uniformed guard of honor.

The appearance of Mikoyan was especially surprising in view of the fact that he implied Friday night that Macmillan was responsible for the chill on British-Soviet talks in Moscow by taking a "tough line" on Germany. He said Macmillan had assumed that position in talks with Khrushchev.

Warms of Separate Treaty

Mikoyan also voiced a warning that if the West does not arrange a peace treaty with Germany and settle the Berlin issue, the Soviets will sign a separate pact with East Germany. The Western powers do not recognize the Communist East German state.

Mikoyan, standing for a seat in the Soviet Federation Parliament, made his remarks at a political rally at Rostov-on-Don while Macmillan was visiting the Ukrainian capital of Kiev.

Macmillan told his Soviet hosts at a dinner in Kiev Friday night that the Soviet Union must negotiate with an honest desire for fair agreement if it really wants peace.

But sources close to the British delegation said Macmillan has just about given up hope of bring-

Burke Succeeds Kinter

Local Foundation Executive Named

Edmund M. Burke, 30, of Williamsport, Pa., has been named executive secretary of United Appeals and Community Foundation in Marion County, effective about April 15. He will succeed Edwin J. Kinter.

Mr. Burke was employed Friday night on a full-time basis by joint action of the United Appeals and Community Foundation boards meeting at the YMCA.

Announcement of the selection was made today by Wayne H. Kuhn, United Appeals president, and Delmar Dulin, Community Foundation president.

MR. BURKE not only will assume the executive secretaryship of the two local organizations, but will serve as a counselor for the fund-raising drive in the fall, thus eliminating the necessity for hiring a professional consultant.

He comes to the new post with nearly three years of experience in the fund-raising area. Mr. Burke has been assistant executive director of the Lycoming County (Williamsport, Pa.) United Fund and assistant executive secretary of the Council of Community Services in Lycoming County since July of 1956.

A GRADUATE of Champlain College of the State University of New York with a B.A. degree, he also holds a master's degree from the Boston College School of Social Work.

His field work has included service as a caseworker with children, parents and foster home par-

Grand Prairie Protests Use of Land for Dump

Grand Prairie Township residents are joining in an effort to block the city from acquiring a 25-acre tract of land in the township for use as a city dump.

Delmar H. Brewer, clerk of the township trustees, said today that some 200 residents have signed petitions of protest which will be sent to federal authorities processing the city's application for the land.

The triangular tract, which lies just east of the Pennsylvania Railroad at the southern edge of the township, is part of the old Scioto Ordnance land which the General Services Administration plans to make available at public auction.

The trustees went on record earlier this month as definitely opposing the proposed acquisition for dump purposes and wrote a letter of protest Friday which is

The trustees went on record earlier this month as definitely opposing the proposed acquisition for dump purposes and wrote a letter of protest Friday which is being mailed to Mayor Wendell L. Strong, Council President Fred Baldauf and Walter G. Rhoden, chief of the state agency for property utilization in Columbus.

In its application for the land, the city said it planned to use the area either for park purposes or for a dumping area. The trustees, in their letter of protest, said:

"If the land is limited to those two uses, it would appear that the city would certainly be leaning to its use as a dumping area, inasmuch as the city presently has three parks within its corporation limits and experiences difficulty yearly in appropriating the necessary funds to carry on an adequate recreation and maintenance program in the existing parks."

The trustees said in their letter

Russian Ship Blamed for Cut in Cable

Naval Officer Reports Vessel Probably Was Responsible for Break

ARGENTINA, Nid. (AP) — The U.S. naval lieutenant who searched the Novorossisk says the Soviet trawler "probably quite likely" had something to do with breaking transatlantic cables.

But, he emphasizes, "I don't know whether accidentally or intentionally."

Lt. Donald Sheely of Falls Church, Va., told a news conference here Friday night that the Soviets offered no resistance to his boarding party on Thursday and sailed away on being told to leave the Grand Banks area where five cables were broken.

15 Still in Area

In Sydney, N.S., the Eastern Telegraph and Telephone Co. said a patrol plane had sighted about 20 trawlers—15 of them Soviet—still operating in the area Friday. The pilot said the ships "just appear to be fishing."

Rough seas and drifting ice held up repairing of the cables. Two Western Union cables ships are standing by but the weather forecast was gloomy for beginning work for some hours.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda called the boarding illegal and the official Soviet news agency Tass described it as the "unlawful action of the American naval fleet in the open sea."

Neither gave any immediate indication whether the Soviets intend to make a formal diplomatic protest. If they do, they face a rebuff.

No Apology Involved

U.S. State Department press officer Lincoln White said in Washington "I don't think any apology is involved in any way, shape or form. This was not a hostile action, but an investigation clearly provided for under terms of a treaty."

The Soviet accounts of the boarding in the Grand Banks fishing grounds off Newfoundland made no mention of the 1884 treaty which permits inspection of the documents of ships suspected of damaging oceanic cables, intentionally or accidentally.

Moscow Radio, in a newscast to the Soviet people, tended to treat the boarding as a routine story. It quoted Adm. Jerauld Wright, commander of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet, as saying "The skipper of

Beck Is Given Denunciation, Fine, Jail Term

Judge Blasts Ex-Union Boss, Sentences Him To 5 Years in Prison

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Former Teamster Union President Dave Beck received a five year sentence and $60,000 fine Friday for income tax evasion, plus a double-barreled denunciation from the judge.

"The exposure of Mr. Beck's insatiable greed, resulting in his fall from high place, is a sad and shocking story," said U.S. District Judge George Boldt in a scathing, 20-minute lecture before passing sentence.

Quickly Posts Bond

Beck quickly posted $70,061 to cover the fine and court costs and was released. After his conviction Feb. 19, Beck spent a night behind bars for the first time in his life before appeal bond was set.

A motion for a new trial was denied.

The government could claim more than half a million dollars from Beck.

He was charged with evading $240,607 for the years 1950-53, but the government raised its estimate of the amount actually owed to $258,636. In addition to the fine and court costs, a 50 per cent fraud penalty of $129,318 and $96,995 in interest at 6 per cent brings the total to $555,911.

Beck, 64, stood calm and quiet, one hand clenched behind his back and the other in a trouser pocket, as the judge began his denunciation.

He refused two invitations to address the court. But later he told reporters, "I am not the first innocent person to be sentenced nor will I be the last."

He said he had authorized his attorneys to push the appeal, filed last week.

Convention in California

Democratic Kingmaker Role May Fall to Brown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic party's decision to hold its 1960 convention in Los Angeles appeared likely to move California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown into a kingmaker role in the presidential nominating contest.

The committee voted 71-35 Friday to hold its nominating convention in Los Angeles. Chicago and Philadelphia members fought this decision in an acrimonious five-hour session of the group but lost by votes ranging from 68-37 to 67-39.

Brown will get an early chance to display himself to the convention delegates in a welcoming speech. It was with just such a speech that Adlai E. Stevenson brought the house down in the 1952 Chicago convention that later nominated him for president.

Probably nobody in California thinks that Brown is a serious

Police Squelch Report Castro's Home Fired On

Investigation Shows Shooting Took Place 5 Miles From House

HAVANA (AP)—Police rushing to the Cojimar district on a report that Prime Minister Fidel Castro's house was sprayed with bullets said today an investigation showed the shooting was five miles away.

Police Lt. Jesus Castiel said what happened was this:

"Five miles from where Dr. Castro lives two shots were heard. At the place of shooting the person who fired the shots was not found. It appeared that the person did not have permission (to carry a gun) and fired for the purpose of frightening some thieves who were pushing against a door."

Premier Castro, who recently moved from the Havana Hilton Hotel to suburban Cojimar, was not in the area at the time. He was at a cabinet meeting in the Presidential Palace.

Earlier police reported that gunmen sprayed Castro's house from a speeding car shortly before midnight but no one was hurt.

These reports said that Police Chief Eligio Alamejra and Rene de los Santos, chief of investigations for the army, were taking part in the inquiry.

Missile May Be Launched On Weekend

Several Rockets Fired As Preliminary Step To Huge Space Show

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —The United States, flexing its missile muscles in a spectacular series of firings, is ready to try again to ram a satellite past the moon and into orbit around the sun.

The Army moon-shoot appears likely this weekend, although the exact time still is a secret.

Preliminary Events

Preliminaries in the big week-end space show were:

Launching of a powerful 80-foot Thor-Able rocket early today on a 5,000-mile ICBM nose cone recovery test.

Successful firing of a 28-foot Jupiter missile Friday over a 1,700-mile range to test its tactical ballistic shell, nose cone, engine, warhead and fusing system.

Launching of the Navy's Polaris nuclear submarine rocket Friday. The Navy later said the Polaris may have broken up soon after it disappeared into the clouds, although considerable test data was recorded. Three of four earlier Polaris firings were unsuccessful.

Four-Stage Juno II

The Army moon rocket waiting to take the limelight was a four-stage Juno II — a Jupiter surmounted with three successive stages of Sergeant rockets.

Its star role will be to hurl a 13-pound satellite loaded with radiation equipment past the moon to become an artificial planet whirling around the sun.

The first and second stages of the Juno II rocket will be in a spinning bucket to give stability in flight. There will be 11 of the solid fuel Sergeant rockets in the second stage, three in the third. The fourth stage will be one Sergeant rocket to which the little satellite will be attached.

The planes of the earth and moon are now in the best relation—with the moon about 220,000 miles from the earth.

First Went 64,000 Miles

The first Army moon-shoot last Dec. 6 climbed 64,000 miles. The Pioneer II rocket fired by the Air Force last Nov. 8 reached 71,000 miles.

The Soviets have claimed they sent a space probe past the moon early this year.

The Thor-Able fired early today shot through the clouds with a brilliant flash at the start of the nose cone recovery test—the fifth of a series. The first four failed.

Bandits Stage Holdup in East

RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Two bandits pulled an Eastern version of the old Wild West stagecoach holdup Friday. They collected $655 at gunpoint from 62 people on a commuter bus from New York.

The pair posed as passengers. When the bus emerged from the Lincoln Tunnel under the Hudson River, one of them sitting at the front told bus driver Julius Nagy: "There's going to be a holdup."

As the bus rolled along on Rt. 3, the other bandit moved from the rear with a brown duffel bag, taking up the collection among the passengers, some of them standing in the aisle.

"He skipped some of the people in the excitement, I guess because of the standees," Nagy said.

None of the riders spoke. None moved, except to reach for wallet or purse. It was over in 10 minutes.

The men alighted at Wheaton Ave. here and strolled leisurely away as the bus disappeared.

There were no service stations handy where Nagy could phone police, so he drove the bus to the De Camp Bus Co. garage in Clifton, two miles away.

The World Isn't Our Apple

It's a good idea from time to time to recognize the fact that this is God's world, and that, in the final analysis, He is able to do with it as He sees fit. It does not actually belong to us!

We may attempt to ignore this fact, even try to deny it, but eventually we find ourselves face to face with it, so we are better off if we take a look at it along the way.

It's God's world. It was His in the beginning; it is His now.

WE ARE A BIT like the little boys who had played so long in the neighborhood vacant lot they thought it belonged to them. Or the girl who borrowed a friend's sweater and wore it until she was sure it always had been hers. Or the young man who drove Dad's car so much he looked upon it as his car.

We tend to think of the world as our own extra special possession. It's our "apple," so we think. We expect it to revolve and conform and produce to suit our particular needs and convenience.

But we are just as wrong as we can be when we follow this line of thinking, for we should be ever-

We Need the Church

A Sermonette

By REV. C. EDWARD WEBER
Pastor of Central Christian Church

"Would you want to live in a community where there are no churches?" It seems to me that a city without churches would be a very unwholesome place to live and to bring up children. I talked with a non-church going friend several years ago and he said, "No, sir. I would not want to live in a city where there were no churches." Yet he was doing little or nothing to keep one going.

You, too, would not want to live in a community where there are no churches. Then do you not feel that you have some obligation to support a church in your community? The best way you can support that church is by your presence.

Abraham Lincoln realized the importance of our churches. During the dark days of the Civil War a very heavy casualty toll crowded the hospitals. One Sunday the pastor of the church where President Lincoln was worshipping announced that services would be suspended for a while in order that the churches might be used for hospitals. Cots would take the place of pews. But before the benediction could be given the President arose and rescinded the order saying, "We need the churches open to keep the stars shining in our sky."

MANY Non-church going people are good people. The question is not whether they are better or worse than church-going people. The question is, "Do we not all need the church and its teaching in helping us mold better lives? Do we not all need the hope and the inspiration which the church offers? Do we not need to 'keep the stars shining in our sky'?"

The popular poet, Edgar A. Guest once, stated: "I attend church because I believe in it... it has been my source of inspiration and strength and comfort." He goes on to state, "Criticized and mocked as it is at times, yet the church stands for all that is finest in our thoughts. It still is the mother of our greatest sons and daughters."

The church does have a fine influence on our sons and daughters. If you have several children in your family you have at least several good reasons for going to church.

DR. HENRY C. LINK, a religious psychologist, makes this interesting report following a three-year test for children: "Among the most important habits contributing to an effective personality in children are their going to Sunday School and having parents who attend church. Just the fact that their parents attend church is an important factor in the development of desirable personality traits in children." J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI also states that the training of youth in the churches is a bulwark against crime and delinquency.

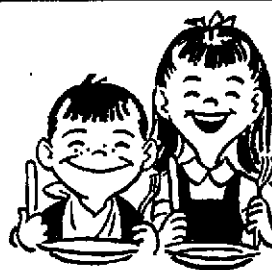

Few parents fail to see that their children's bodies receive the food they need for growth. How much more important it is that their souls receive food for spiritual growth! Let us begin to take religion and the church seriously — for the benefit of the generations to come and for the welfare of our children if for no other reason.

Yet there is another reason for going to church — perhaps the best reason of all. It is simply to worship Almighty God, the Creator and Lord of life. Worship is our personal and corporate expression of thanksgiving to God for his goodness. We praise him because he alone is worthy of worship because he alone is above us. We do not worship one another because we are equals. We do not worship things because they are in some measure beneath us. God is the only worthy object of our adoration. Worship can be a joyous experience for all as it was for the Psalmist who exclaimed: "I was glad when they said unto me, 'Let us go to the house of the Lord.'"

Why don't you "worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" — at church next Sunday?

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Finding Your Answer Through Prayer

This week's column is about a woman in a southern state who was suffering deep depression. Many problems, all seemingly insoluble, had swooped down upon her and she had given way under them, falling into the blackest despair.

Losing her ability to reason intelligently, she came Vincent Peale to the pathetic decision that the only answer to her problems was to take her own life. Somehow she secured a gun. Then, fearing that she might not be able to nerve herself to use it, she also armed herself with a box of sleeping pills. Thus equipped, she got into her car, drove 100 miles to the outskirts of Atlanta, registered under an assumed name in a motel and prepared for the terrible act of self-destruction.

She paced the room, trying to work herself up to do what she planned to do. It so happened there was a newspaper in the room which had been provided by the management for guests. She picked it up and nervously leafed through it, not really seeing anything. Then, suddenly, by some strange perceptiveness she saw an advertisement in small type. It seemed to leap out of the paper at her. "If you are in trouble," it read, "dial a prayer." And a telephone number was given.

THE IDEA of praying gripped her mind and she said to herself, "If I'm going to end my life, it's only right that I should hear a prayer before I die." There was no telephone in the motel room, so she went into the office where she found a telephone booth. She dropped her dime in the slot, dialed the number and soon a strong, friendly, confident voice was saying to her: "God is your refuge and your strength, an ever-present help in time of your trouble. I give you an affirmation. Say it after me: 'God is my refuge. God is my strength. God is my peace. I am now receiving the assurance that I can gain victory over my trouble.'"

She repeated it after him. And six times in the next 24 hours, she went back to that telephone, heard the prayer and offered the affirmation. The sixth time, she even knowing that she would be heard, she whispered, "I am going to commit suicide. I need your help."

Soon a man came. He prayed with her; he talked with her; he broke through into her darkness. She gained victory.

She checked out, got into her car and drove home to attack her problems with new strength.

BUILT ON SAND?

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

These Nations Are Catholic By CHOICE!

You hear it said today that the Catholic Church seeks to entrench itself as the established religion of any and all nations.

And you are warned that wherever Catholicism dominates, religious liberty is denied to others. "Look at Spain!" the critics say. "and Italy and Colombia, too. And remember the Dark Ages and their persecutions!"

Implicit in these warnings, of course, is the suggestion that the people of so-called Catholic countries are compelled to remain loyal to the Church against their will. Any fair-minded person who really does "look at Spain" and other predominantly Catholic countries finds that they embrace Catholicism as a matter of choice, not compulsion.

People who take the trouble to "look" at the history of religious oppression are also often surprised at what they find. They discover that the religious persecutions—almost without exception—were motivated by political rather than religious purposes; and that the chief guilt for them should be laid at the door of the statesmen and ruling houses of the nation rather than the churches.

This fact was emphasized in an address to the Congress of the United States on January 8, 1826, by the then distinguished Bishop of Charleston, John England, who said: "... religion has been more frequently but a pretext with statesmen for a political purpose than the cause of persecution from zeal on its own behalf."

The Catholic Church, being universal, must exist under various flags and different political systems. In Colombia, for example, where the people are overwhelmingly Catholic, one statesman describes religion as "the fundamental pillar of our culture." The status of the Catholic Church in such a land would obviously be different than in the United States, where there are many faiths—all entitled to the same rights and privileges.

In 1916 Cardinal Gibbons, dean of American bishops, said: "Separation of Church and state in this country seems to Catholics the natural, the inevitable, the best among us, both for the good of religion and of the state."

Speaking for the Bishops in 1948, the late Archbishop McNicholas said U.S. Catholics would not seek union of church and state even if they constituted a majority.

It may surprise you to hear that in at least one era of religious persecution, Catholics and non-Catholics were hanged from the same gallows. This and other dramatic stories dating back to the Middle Ages are related in a pamphlet which we will be glad to send free upon request. It will be mailed in a plain envelope—nobody will call on you. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. KC-8.

Lineup Clears Campanella's Boy of Killing

NEW YORK (AP) — David Campanella, 15-year-old son of the former Dodge catcher, has been found free of any connection with a slaying in Brooklyn.

Actually, he was never in custody, according to Dist. Atty. Edward Silver.

Silver said Friday several witnesses to the slaying saw young Campanella's picture in the paper — as a result of several scrapes he was in earlier this week—and thought there was resemblance to the killer. But when they saw him in a lineup they found no resemblance.

The slain man was 40-year-old Al Joffe, who walked in on a holdup at a Brooklyn luggage shop early this month, scooped at the holdup man's gun as unreal, and was shot and killed. His slayer was identified as a Negro between 25 and 30.

Monday the Campanella boy was presented in Children's Court on a charge of being a juvenile delinquent. The charge arose from a street fight in which the boy took part.

He was let off with a warning but soon afterward was charged again with juvenile delinquency in connection with a burglary at a drugstore. He will answer that charge March 11.

His father, Roy, a star catcher with the Los Angeles Dodgers until he was crippled in an auto accident last year, has been a leader in fighting juvenile delinquency.

English Cross-Smashing Blamed on Witchcraft

NORTH CRAY, England (AP) —Police today were investigating the mystery of the 10 shattered churchyard crosses — smashed, villagers say, by devil-worshippers.

The crosses were smashed a few days before this week's full moon in the Churchyard of St. James in this Kent village.

Only the crosses were desecrated—other headstones were not touched.

Police are also probing reports of unearthly screams and howls late at night in the nearby woods. "The possibility of witchcraft or devil worship cannot be ruled out," declared the rector, the Rev. R. J. Shaw-Hamilton.

Traffic Deaths Shoot Upward 4% in January

Increase Halts Trend Downward for Last 2 Years; 2,875 Killed

CHICAGO (AP)—Last month's toll of highway accident fatalities in the United States was 2,875, the National Safety Council said today—110 more than in January a year ago.

The 4 per cent increase interrupted a general downward trend in traffic deaths during the last two years which the council said saved more than 2,600 lives.

January traffic accidents this year caused about 100,000 disabling injuries, the council estimated.

January was the third month in the last 26 when the total of traffic deaths reported was more than in the corresponding month a year earlier. It was up 4 per cent in August 1957 and 3 per cent in October 1958.

The council suggested complacency of motorists was partly responsible for last month's increase.

Despite a 2 per cent increase of deaths reported from 671 cities of more than 10,000 population, 506 of the cities had no traffic deaths in January.

The three leading cities in each population group, ranked according to the lowest number of deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles included:

750,000 - 1,000,000 — Cleveland 2.8
200,000—Toledo, Ohio, 6.

The Russians Are Not Nervous

Once more Americans are wondering if international tension is reaching the cracking point of a shooting war.

There is no logical reason for any country to go to war over the issue of Berlin's future. Here was a city that had no foreseeable future at the end of World War II when it was being pounded into rubble.

But logic has nothing to do with war, which is the triumph of hysteria over reason. The question now is whether the men who constitute the one-party hierarchy of the Soviet Union are capable of throwing logic to the winds and precipitating war.

If they did this, the United States would not be fighting for Berlin, or for West Germany. It would be fighting for the preservation of its beliefs against the procedures of a government that had shown itself incapable of co-existence.

It would be fighting for the survival of its way of doing things against the threat of a way of doing things it could not accept.

THESE THINGS are known to Americans. They are known to the citizens of the nations which in all likelihood would line up with the United States in war. This is one of the ways of doing things that cannot be sacrificed to the absolutism of Russia — this broad dissemination of information and unlimited discussion.

It puts the Western Allies at a disadvantage in the war of nerves that has been brought to a fresh climax by Premier Khrushchev's curt treatment of Prime Minister Macmillan during the latter's visit to the Soviet Union.

In the West every possibility of international disaster is being aired. All the cards are being laid on the table. The dreadful potentiality of a war that might be started by the iron whim of the Kremlin is being examined in cold fear. If there are any sword-rattlers in the West, they are taking pains not to reveal how they feel about the possibility of war that has been brought into focus by the latest failure in a series of unsuccessful parleys with Russia.

The West is frightened and solemn. It is nervous. All the whistling in the dark it has been doing on its way past the graveyard suddenly seems foolish. The Soviet Union has delivered an ultimatum about Berlin. It has set a deadline — May 27. It is behaving suspiciously like a government that has decided to introduce violence into a tense international situation.

BUT THROUGHOUT all that has happened and all that may happen, it must be borne in mind that the Russians will not be nervous. They will not know what is happening to them as May 27 approaches. There will be no information, no discussion. There will be no questions, no answers.

The absolutists who control their lives and even their thoughts will tell them nothing. They will be as ignorant as the hordes of Communists Chinese who ran screaming up to the defense lines in Korea. They will be told only what is calculated to make them hysterical and full of hate.

It is going to be a test of the composure of free people, perhaps the most severe test since Hitler's massed hordes were massed to pounce on Europe in 1940 at the climax of a war of nerves. That war of nerves was too much for the French, but it did not shatter the morale of the English.

This war of nerves may claim victims too. That is perhaps the main reason it is being waged — not to precipitate a shooting war but to see how many casualties can be knocked off without bloodshed.

A Thought To Take to Heart

A retired British admiral, John Hughes Hallett, who told his fellow MPs in the House of Commons that he never was told where the atomic bombs were kept when he was second in command of a British-American striking force has let a cat out of the bag.

The bag is the multi-billion-dollar security system that all admirals and generals insist on beefing up year in and year out — just in case. The cat is the tendency of admirals and generals to be just as feckless as the rest of us.

Right here in the United States, the whole security system for the Pacific theater of preparedness went poof one memorable morning when a cocksure officer wouldn't listen to an underling who had seen pips on a radar screen for the protection of Pearl Harbor. On that same occasion, VIPs who supposedly would be on their toes were on horseback and various other places when the time came to deliver the goods.

Today, everything is done with pushbuttons, of course — and any fool can push a button. But which button? And what if the electricity has been turned off? And who gives the order if the man who is supposed to give the order isn't where he is supposed to be when it's time to give the order?

Among us totally unprepared dependents, quandaries like these are a way of life. If we need the flashlight, we can't remember where we left it. We don't know where the shutoff valve for the water is. We can't even remember if a dog bites us whether we inspect the dog's head or our own head for rabies.

But by all that's improvident, we would know where the atomic bombs were kept if we had any — right in here somewhere back of the garden tools, the kids' bicycles, the lawnmower and the glider. If nobody told us where they were, we'd look until we found them.

City Principal Loser in Isaly Decision

The city would appear to be the principal loser in the failure of William Isaly to gain acceptance of his proposal for having Brightwood Dr. cut through to Vernon Heights Blvd.

Mr. Isaly announced Friday he will proceed to sell the lots in his 16-acre development without developing a through street at present.

Sometime in the future when the demand by the residents reaches major proportions, Leetonia Ave. will be extended south to Vernon Heights Blvd. and north to Forest St.

Meanwhile Mr. Isaly will retain title to the 60-foot right of way through the board of education property south from the intersection of Brightwood and Mandana Ave.

The school system reports it will be able to work out its long-range plans for use of the area despite the fact its property is split by the right of way.

Mr. Isaly will go ahead with the development of his allotment.

The city, however, has lost a through street which Mr. Isaly would have built and dedicated to the city, and also has passed up a chance for the easy annexation of the 16 acres before a big increase in the number of property holders complicates the issue.

This is not to say the city was wrong in refusing to grant an easement through its park property on Vernon Heights Blvd. to provide access for Brightwood Dr.

The Once Over

Q. How far can this "inside — your insides" trend go on my TV screen? I can't look at a pill, tonic or capsule without seeing the route taken, the detours, dead-ends, etc. I find I can't see a telecast of a cough drop without its itinerary. Once I could swallow an anti-acid medicine, trusting to luck, and having no idea of its progress beyond a belief "it went thataway." Now I get the line of march. I am put in a reviewing stand of a human chest and torso and shown where the tablet takes a sharp right, the point where it turns left and the area where it is demobilized. Can you help me?—R.K.L.

Another Good Sign

A new cause for optimism on the local business scene was provided at Thursday's luncheon given by the Marion forge division of the Eaton Manufacturing Co.

Top company officials revealed that expansion definitely is planned at the Marion division. A gradual increase in production will not necessitate additional buildings and equipment in the near future but a construction program will be undertaken when it is needed.

Eaton is another of the relatively new industries in Marion that are contributing so heavily to this community's growth and business soundness.

John C. Virden, Eaton president and chairman of the board of directors, said: "We think there is room for expansion in Marion. We like the community climate here."

The feeling is quite mutual. Marion is most happy to have Eaton as a member of its industrial family.

(Associated Newspapers)

World War II was over and a great depression had settled upon France when a humble priest named Abbe Pierre rented a rundown house and gathered about him a group of homeless, lonely, starving men.

The motley band refused charity and took to picking over trash cans and refuse heaps in large cities in order to help the neediest of their fellow men. Soon, Abbe Pierre and his "Ragpickers of Emmaus" became symbols of hope to the despairing.

During the bitter winter of 1954, when helpless thousands walked the streets of Paris, the Ragpickers distributed tons of clothing and blankets collected in a radio appeal by the Abbe himself. They sheltered, fed and gave a new lease on life to nearly 10,000 persons.

The humble Abbe and his Ragpickers, destitute men themselves who started with nothing but faith, demonstrated that charity is everybody's business, rich and poor alike.

Oil on Troubled Waters By Raymond Moley

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.

The hottest subject of concern in the three big oil producing states of Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma is the forthcoming battle in Congress over the depletion allowance in computing taxes on oil producers. Bills have been introduced by Sen. John J. Williams and by Rep. T. H. MacDonal to cut the allowance from its present 27 1/2 per cent to 15 per cent.

The subject has been a perennial bone of contention in Congress for two decades. Now, with the Northern liberals stronger than ever, the pressure for a revision will be much greater.

This allowance amounts to permission for an oil producer to exempt a part of his income from federal taxes. The deduction is 27 1/2 per cent unless this would amount to more than 50 per cent of the producer's net income. It was put into the law in this form in 1926.

IN GENERAL, the purpose of the allowance was to encourage the independent producer to gamble his capital on drilling, which in recent years has become more risky. Also, new fields became more difficult to exploit because it is necessary to drill deeper.

The allowance is attacked for the most part as a big tax loophole which enables the gathering of huge returns and large fortunes. And so it might look to the individual who has not studied the circumstances involved in the oil business.

It is claimed by the proponents of reduction that, in the last analysis, everyone who starts a new business takes risks, and that for every one who is successful, considerably more fail.

ONE FEDERAL official in the was years made the silly remark that "the wells that are going to be dry should not be drilled."

Space in this article prevents a lengthy discussion of the arguments in favor of the depletion allowance. But it is pointed out in defense of the allowance that it is not unlike the depreciation allowed the owner of a piece of machinery, except that this one represents a depreciation of capital. For the independent producer must lose so much money in drilling unproductive wells—far outnumbering productive ones—that in order to keep in the business he must do well financially when he strikes a good well.

Moreover, the activity of these independents and "wildcaters" is important to the big companies because they are in a sense the scouting agents, the people who go ahead of the big companies and discover new fields which are later worked by the major concerns. Consequently, all oil producers, big and little, are united on the issue.

The political potential in Congress favoring the depletion allowance is not just the representatives of the oil-producing states. For depletion allowances are given for producers of other minerals, including sulphur, uranium and a range of metal ores down to sand and clay.

The percentages allowed in these cases are less than 27 1/2 per cent but are substantial. Hence, representatives from the states with such resources are likely to agree with those from the oil states.

The strong leadership of Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn will be taxed to the utmost in this coming battle in Congress.

It seems to be taken for granted in Texas that its senior senator is a strong possibility for the Democratic nomination in 1960. He has already attained something of the stature of compromiser that Henry Clay attained more than a century ago.

His capacity for compromise, as well as his parliamentary skill, was shown in the closure fight. This will be an even greater test.

Second Thoughts

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

A popular parlor game today is, "If you had it all to do again, what would you do different?"

A hostess who poses this question at a party of middle-aged guests never has to worry about conversation the rest of the evening. Her only problem is to keep her rug from being flooded with the tears of what-might-

We were asked at a recent party how we would like to relive our life, and we remained silent, because our first impulse was to throw up.

SINCE THEN, however, we have been brooding over the question, and have decided a second ride on the merry-go-round might be worthwhile—if we could arrange certain changes.

We would choose to be born dumber and richer. We are somewhat weary of having an IQ higher than our bank account. Common sense is the curse of the poor and sensible. Next time we'd like to be wealthy and insensible.

We would start wearing bigger shoes and looser collars earlier in life. Most of our mistakes in judgment came from a cramped mind—the result of wearing shoes half a size too short and a shirt collar half a size too tight.

WE WOULD GO into business for ourselves instead of working for others. A series of sharp quick bankruptcies is better than life-long serfdom.

We would marry at 17. A man who waits until 27 to marry does not have enough time left to repent.

We would have more children—odds of them. It is more comfortable to be old than young, and nothing ages you faster than children.

We would learn to ride a horse. In our set — the subway set — a man who can ride a horse stands out like a pimple on the face of the Mona Lisa.

Coffeehouse Church

By Jeanne Barnett

A fashionable, European - type coffeehouse will be opened by a Washington church in an unusual attempt to "soft sell" religion.

There will be no sermons, no collection plates and no church membership cards. Gourmet dishes and exotic coffees will be served at modest prices in an atmosphere designed to stimulate conversation about the eternal issues of life and death.

The unusual venture in untraditional evangelism is the idea of the Rev. Newton Gordon Cosby, a 41-year-old minister who, as a chaplain with the 101st Airborne Division was twice awarded the Bronze Star for battlefield action in Normandy and during the 1944 siege at Bastogne.

Last winter, the Rev. Mr. Cosby delivered a guest sermon at what his wife called a "dismal church before a shivering congregation."

Mrs. Cosby said that later, in their hotel room, she and the minister heard from a tavern below happy chatter and juke box melodies.

"It Jesus of Nazareth had his choice," the minister told his wife, "he would probably have come to the tavern rather than to the church we visited."

The Rev. Mr. Cosby's home congregation, the nondenominational Church of the Savior, adopted the idea of giving Washington—basically a city of people away from home — a conversational center where "non-religious" people can ask religious questions, a place of serious talk for those who have "written off" the conventional church.

IN AN INTERVIEW, Mrs. Cosby said the coffeehouse project was designed to show that the church is not an institution removed from life.

"Any place can be a church," she explained. "It is the element of reality that makes it a church. This will be a conversational center to raise real issues. We may not get answers but we hope to raise issues."

Members of the church committee planning the project expect the coffeehouse crowd to include artists, writers and musicians, occupations highly patronized in the past by the church. These skills are represented among the 65 persons who have put in at least a year's study each to become members of the Church of the Savior.

The church members, who study and pray in small fellowship groups, have "totally committed their lives to Christ." Some of them always will be available at the coffeehouse to tell others what their religion has meant to them and to their work.

"We hope to offer programs each evening that will be fun but will also raise issues," the Rev. Mr. Cosby explained. "You can talk about many things that don't sound like religion and are religious. Our purpose is to talk things over because we believe that a person grows in spirit, mind and soul as he communicates with others."

Among the activities being considered are strolling musicians, plays in the round, exhibits by Washington artists and readings of poetry.

THE COMMITTEE is now looking for a suitable place for the coffeehouse that can accommodate between 125 and 150 customers and can remain open from 5 p.m. until 1 or 2 a.m.

Members recently toured eight coffeehouses in New York's Greenwich Village to sample the atmosphere. Mrs. Esther Dorsey, a church member, is enrolled in a hotel school and will leave her government job after 19 years to become manager of the house.

The committee estimates the project will cost $15,000 the first year. Low-cost meat and produce can come from Dayspring, the church's farm in Maryland.

The professional skills of church members are being utilized: Those who are carpenters are building tables, artists are designing place mats, potters are experimenting with special glazes for the china, interior decorators are designing the settings with the Christian symbol of the fish as a theme.

The emphasis on good food and drink in the project, Mrs. Cosby said, has a biblical precedent. "In most of Jesus' dealings with the disciples," she said, "you find they were gathered around food."

If the international set in black tie or tails comes to the coffeehouse looking exclusively for good food and coffee, she said, they won't be turned away. But, Mrs. Cosby said, "we are not just opening an eating place. We hope those who are searching for real life and real conversation will find it."

Others, Mrs. Cosby added, will weed themselves out, probably with a shouted, "for goodness sake, let me out of here."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: It is my opinion, if you ask me, that the automobile industry is about to give itself a new lease on the Henry Ford legend by being forced into a new line of production. So go ahead, ask me.

Those chin-scratchers who keep telling us that the automobile's importance as a prestige symbol is fading and that this is one of the causes for the popularity of foreign cars had better go back and re-consult their tea leaves.

I was there, Charley. I know.

There were people who bought automobiles as prestige symbols, but they did not figure to be very important around this part of the country. We bought automobiles because they were logical.

It may come as a surprise to the brainbusters in Detroit, but that is the way we've been buying them every since. I am talking now about the ordinary run of folks in this part of the country, which I daresay is just as important in the over-all picture as any other part of the country.

Logic sold the first automobiles and has been selling them ever since. It made sense to get to town and back in about the same time it formerly had taken to catch old Nellie and get the crupper under her tail.

Those first cars — the ones Henry Ford made famous — ran the horse and buggy out of competition by doing the same job better. They were logical, so we bought them by the hundreds of thousands, and that is how the automobile era got its start.

The prestige-symbol part came along later, when the sports and wasters got into the act and insisted on being illogical about a proposition that had been built of logic. I will not deny that they had influence, but I deny stoutly that they were fairly representative of the great majority of auto owners and users.

We put performance ahead of everything else. And it was not until some of the things about cars began to make no sense at all that we rose up on our knuckle-headed wrath and began to mutter about a restoration of logic.

To the extent that Detroit has enough sense to come in out of the rain, it will go back to the good solid basis that made it thrive in the first place and insist on its a restoration of logic.

That is what I mean when I talk about getting back to a basis of logic. About the most important prestige symbol a citizen can lay his hands on in an age of creeping insanity is some evidence that he still has all his buttons — and only the very rich and the very silly can justify the unbuttoned nonsense that has crept into automobiling.

I often wonder how much mileage I used to get on that first Ford runabout that took me everywhere and back. All I know is it must have been good, because the nearest gas pump was the other side of the covered bridge at the river crossing, and I didn't aim to get there often than once every couple weeks. Of course, I kept extra gas in a can in the wagon shed, just in case, but gasoline was not one of my worries, as it is now, when it would be cheaper to run my go-devil on cereal cream.

Back to logic! And regards to the family.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I'm 21 and just sued my husband for divorce.

I met a very good-looking man (more my own age) and we fell in love immediately. He's in show biz and travels, but writes to me every day. We plan to be married as soon as my divorce is final.

My parents can't believe there's such a thing as love at first sight. I know there is. They say I'm a fool to go across the country to marry him. They think he should come here. This is silly because his fare would cost $200 and then we'd both have to travel back, as we plan to live out there.

I will have to quit my job but I have enough money saved to make the trip and support myself for the three-day waiting period before we can get married.

Please print your answer so my folks can see it. And be practical. It all boils down to why should we spend $600 when we can get by with $200?—VIRGINIA.

Dear Virginia: The real issue is not the $600 versus the $200, but the "love at first sight" routine which your folks are questioning. And I don't blame them. It's always wise to take a second look. Tools. You usually see something new.

Your record is pretty shoddy. At 21 you're a grass widow with husband No. 2 already picked out—and this bird is virtually a stranger. Now you're ready to quit your job and go marry him.

You'll undoubtedly ignore my advice to wait until he can come to your city and become better acquainted, so I'll just make one small suggestion: Buy a round-trip ticket and ask your folks not to rent your room.

Same Old Stall
Dear Ann: I'm a woman 51 and have been a widow for 10 years. I've been keeping company with a nice bachelor who is 65. He lives with his unmarried sister and an uncle who is 75. The three of them inherited money and own the house together.

I enjoy this man's company and our friends always invite us as a couple. I've told him I'd like to be married but he tells me he can do nothing until his sister passes away, as he promised his mother he always would look after her.

I'm afraid if I stop seeing him I'll be terribly lonely. But when I think of my future it scares me. Please give me some badly needed advice.—JESSICA.

Dear Jessica: Fifty-one is no age to be sitting around waiting for a man's sister to die so he will marry you—particularly when the man is 65.

If he wanted marriage, he could still "look after his sister." This is a stall. Don't buy it. When (and if) his sister dies, he'll probably tell you he has to "look after" his uncle. Find new friends.

Tell Her First
Dear Ann Landers: I'm 26 years old and employed in a large city. I met a wonderful girl at work and she thinks the world and all of me.

She doesn't know that in my younger (and more foolish) days I had a few brushes with the police in my home town. I never served a sentence but was released once (insufficient evidence) and a second time I was let off on probation.

This girl comes from a fine family and I feel she loves me enough to forgive and forget. But her folks are very strict-laced and I'm afraid, if they knew, it would be curtains. She's the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me and I'd rather die than lose her.

Please tell me what to do.—CLOCKY.

Dear Clocky: Tell the girl before someone pops up from the past and beats you to it. Old skeletons have a way of falling out of the closet at the most inopportune times.

If she loves you, she'll put you on your deserving back and accept you for what you are today. As for the folks—spare the details for the present.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Galion Mother Busy Caring for Health of Pupils

Mrs. James Roser Takes Job as Nurse in City School System

GALION — Chuckie Roser shouldn't be afraid of an audiometer when he grows up and goes to school. By that time he will have seen his mother use one many times, and will know that it doesn't hurt. An audiometer is an instrument used in testing school children to denote hearing defects. It is used by Galion's school health nurse as a part of an extensive health program.

Mrs. James Roser has this position in the public schools here and Chuckie is her 2½-year old son.

USUALLY first graders are apprehensive about such an imposing instrument as the audiometer, Mrs. Roser explains, and in these cases she appeals to the imagination of the children.

"Now, we're going to play we are taking a ride in a space ship," she says as she starts to put the earphones of the instrument on the pupil.

"You will have to listen for the 'beam' to tell when you can land," she tells the child and this usually brings full cooperation.

Chuckie's mother is in her first year as school health nurse in Galion. She is only the second person to hold this post in 27 years, and succeeded Miss Lucy Alter who retired last year after 26 years on the job.

ENJOYING THE TEST. Two-and-one-half-year old Chuckie Roser seems to be giving himself an audiometer test as his mother, Mrs. James Roser watches. Mrs. Roser is the city school health nurse in Galion and gives audiometer tests to a good number of pupils in the school system every year. By the time Chuckie is ready to take the test in school, he should be quite familiar with the procedure.

BEFORE CHUCKIE was born Mrs. Roser was surgery supervisor at Galion Community Hospital. She was graduated from the old Kirkpatrick High School north of Marion and from nurse's training at Grant Hospital in Columbus in 1950. That same year she received a bachelor of science degree in nursing from Capital University. She has a certificate qualifying her to teach.

While Chuckie Roser's mother is busy at her work and his father is occupied with his duties in the production planning department at the North Electric Co., Chuckie is cared for by his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Milton Hord, who comes to Galion each day from her home north of Marion. Mrs. Roser is the former Marion Hord.

Not all schools have a full-time school health nurse, and Galion was one of the first in this area to have one. Mrs. Roser has an office at the Junior High School.

SHE USES THE audiometer to test hearing and plans to complete tests on all pupils in grades one, three, six, nine and 12 before school is out this spring.

Vision testing is another phase of her work and is carried on extensively. After a screening test is made, another test follows for those who need it.

Recommendations are made to parents when tests reveal that a child should have attention from a doctor or specialist.

A state consultant will come to Galion for a conference with Mrs. Roser when a study is made of and audiograms and vision tests to determine recommendations.

In March Mrs. Roser plans to start a program of education and evaluation on dental health of the elementary children. She will have the help of Mrs. Boyd Epperson, a dental hygienist. There will be an assembly program, and teachers will receive an outline of the program.

Also on Mrs. Roser's schedule is a survey of immunization, particularly to determine if children have all the required polio shots.

IN THE COURSE of her work, Mrs. Roser makes talks frequently to different classes and groups on a variety of health subjects. She also answers emergency calls to classrooms if a child becomes ill.

Many times Mrs. Roser observes that children do not have sufficient clothing and food. Often she cites these cases to the proper authorities, like the Galion Trouble Clinic, the Galion Lions' Club and other welfare agencies.

In her visitations Mrs. Roser also checks nuisance diseases. All in all, Chuckie's mother is constantly on the lookout for the health of boys and girls in the Galion schools, as well as her own son.

Levering Claims Hiring Wife Was Logical Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — "When members of Congress are first elected," says freshman Rep. Robert W. Levering (D-Ohio), "nobody tells them how to get competent help."

"In my case, I was more fortunate than most. My wife, who has two college degrees, has helped me in my campaigns, and knows farming from a pitchfork up."

This Levering tells is why he hired his wife, Eileen, as his secretary at an annual salary of $12,527.

Traditional in District "Actually," Levering went on, "it's traditional in my district. J. Harry McGregor (Republican predecessor of Levering and now dead) employed his wife as his top aide for years."

"They were a good working combination. I think all this current fuss is an attempt to smear the Democrats with an emphasis on trivial things."

In the case of the House, it is a simple matter for reporters to get a rundown on what members pay their staffs. The payrolls are always public.

Senators Refuse to Comment That is not true in the Senate, where salaries of senators' employees are kept secret—unless an individual senator is willing to give them out.

With this in mind, a reporter asked Ohio's Democratic senators, Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, for information about their office payrolls.

Both said they employ no relatives—but both refused to make public their payrolls. One of their objections was that they did not want members of their staffs to compare salaries.

The approximate annual salaries of the staffs of Ohio members of the House, as figured from January payroll records include:

Rep. Jackson E. Betts, Republican — Donald M. Zahn, $12,200; Mary Ann Fox, $6,684; Margaret W. Hynes, $5,742. Rep. Robert W. Levering, Democrat — Eileen B. Levering, $12,527; Carolyn M. Andrade, $5,931; Larson D. Farrar, $5,177; Robert W. Weber, $4,612; Robin Anne Sayes, $3,862; Nona B. Darling, $1,983.

Driver Jailed After Accident Near Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — An Oceola driver was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol and held at Bucyrus City Jail pending hearing in one of the three accidents reported today by state patrolmen here.

They said James E. Mullins, 33, of Oceola, was arrested at 1 a.m. today after his westbound auto went left of center on Rt. 30-N and struck the left side of an eastbound vehicle driven by Maurice E. Caywood, 33, of Rockford.

According to the report, considerable damage was done to both cars in the mishap three miles west of Bucyrus. Mullins was to appear in Bucyrus Mayor's Court today.

A Crestline man sustained abrasions of the head and left leg when his vehicle swerved off Rt. 30-S early today and struck a mailbox.

Patrolmen said the driver of the eastbound auto, John S. Frakes, 28.8 told them he came over the crest of a hill and observed a slow moving car in front of him without taillights.

Frakes said he veered to the left to avoid a collision with the unidentified car and in doing so, struck the mailbox.

The accident occurred about three miles east of Galion at 1:30 a.m., considerably damaging the auto.

A Marion area man escaped injury when his westbound car skidded out of control on Rt. 61 and dropped into a drain ditch Friday at 2:30 a.m., just south of Galion, officers reported.

They said only minor damage was done to the car driven by Virgil L. Montgomery, 25.

St. Louis Post Buys Building Of Rival Paper

Globe-Democrat Must Locate New Quarters, Guild Strike Still On

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The evening St. Louis Post-Dispatch will print the editions of its rival morning Globe-Democrat after a Newspaper Guild strike at the Globe is settled, both papers announced Friday.

Both dailies said the Post, owned by the Pulitzer Publishing Co., has bought the Globe-Democrat building and its mechanical equipment. The price was not disclosed. The Globe is owned by

S. I. Newhouse, owner of 13 newspapers.

The Globe will move to another building, not yet chosen. It will remain separate from the Post-Dispatch in all other respects.

Post To Take Over

The Post plans to move its news and business offices and presses into the Globe building as soon as the Globe finds other quarters and the strike is over.

The Post building is newer and more modern but the newspaper has long been cramped. At one time the Post planned to construct a new building on the western edge of St. Louis but abandoned that idea.

It will combine its presses with the best ones in the Globe building and print both papers, becoming in effect a job printer for the Globe.

The two papers are five blocks apart on the same street in downtown St. Louis. In between, a block from the Globe, is the old Star-Times building which is largely unoccupied.

Officials of both papers said each would carry on as a separate unit. The Post-Dispatch issued a statement saying partly:

"The Globe-Democrat remains the property of S. I. Newhouse and both newspapers will retain their separate identities."

The Globe has been closed eight days by a strike of the Guild over a pension plan. Other provisions of a new contract have been agreed on.

The unexpected announcement came late Friday as Globe-Guild negotiators met with a federal conciliator. The meeting was asked by management.

Immediately after the session ended, Herbert L. Monk, chairman of the strike committee, announced, "The strike is still on. The picket lines will be kept up. All pickets are to report on schedule. The sale will not affect our strike."

Some 330 guildsmen, mostly office and editorial employees, are on strike and their picket lines are being observed by about 700 mechanical workers.

Man Dies in Mishap

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—A truck-car collision on U. S. 6 east of here Friday night killed Alvin L. Emerick, 29, of Aquilla Village, Genuga County. Sheriff's deputies said Emerick's car slammed into the rear of a slow-moving truck.

Rocket Shoot Is Planned by Amateur Club

CAMP A. P. HILL, Va. (AP)—Fifty rockets, including a three-stage affair developed by a Baltimore man, are ready for firing today during an amateur rocket shoot that has attracted enthusiasts from as far away as New England.

The rocket shoot is sponsored by the national capital section of the American Rocket Society. It will climax a 15-week course on the science of rocketry for amateur scientific groups, conducted at Ft. Belvoir.

The three-stage rocket developed by Gerd Nathan, 27-year-old native of Germany, is the first such rocket to be tested at "Little Cape Canaveral" on the Camp A. P. Hill reservation.

Nathan's rocket is 41 inches long and weighs a pound and a quarter. He said Friday the rocket is designed to reach an altitude of about 14,500 feet if the weather is right and attain a velocity of 612 m.p.h.

He hopes to market it, with amateur rocket enthusiasts as potential customers.

Man Killed in Mishap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Howard Carter, 51, of Lexington, Ky., was killed today in an automobile collision at the intersection of U.S. 23 and Ohio 655 just south of Columbus at Shadeville.

The Highway Patrol said Nancy Carter, about 21, a passenger in Carter's car, suffered a fractured right leg and cuts and bruises. She was taken to Mercy Hospital. Thomas B. Smith Jr., of Columbus, driver of the second car, suffered cuts and a back injury.

Submit Low Bid

OXFORD, Ohio (AP)—Frank Messer and Sons of Cincinnati was the apparent low bidder Friday with an estimate of $225,300 for the general contract to build a new physical-mathematics building at Miami University.

Children of the Bible

By Patrick and Garrison

JOSEPH

"And she conceived, and bare a son; and said, God hath taken away my reproach: and she called his name Joseph..."

—Genesis 30:23, 24

Jacob had twelve sons, but of these he loved Joseph best. Joseph was a child of his wife Rachel.

Because Jacob showed greater favor to Joseph, his brothers' envy was aroused and they sold him into slavery to an Egyptian officer named Potiphar.

The familiar story of Joseph and his brothers is told so beautifully and so completely by Moses in the Book of Genesis, that to give a condensed version of it here would only spoil the inspired narrative.

As for the character of Joseph, it was one that might well serve as a model for children of all time. Moses tells us that he "diligently exercised himself to have always a conscience void of offense towards God and towards man."

Because he felt only love, even towards those who did him harm, and because he was humble, grateful, and resigned, God was able to speak to him.

This quality stood him in good stead later in life when he was brought before the king of Egypt to interpret the ruler's dream. So perfectly did Joseph do this, owing to the awareness given him by God, that Pharaoh made him the Prime Minister of Egypt.

Another characteristic of Joseph, which runs like a golden thread through his story, is his deep love and respect for his father.

Even after twenty years' absence, when he had changed from a young boy into a mature ruler, his first question to his brothers (who did not recognize him) was:

"Is your father yet alive?" This bond of affection between Joseph and Jacob was more than the mutual love of father and son. It was the deep feeling of common purpose between two persons, both of whom were wholly dedicated to the service of God.

Harding Moves Into District Tourney Cage Race

Prexies Race Past Shelby Team 62-49

A 21-point burst in the third stanza carried Harding to a 62-49 victory over Shelby Friday night in Sectional Tournament play at the Marion Coliseum.

The win gave Harding a co-championship of the Marion tournament and lifted them into district competition here next week against one of two Lima Sectional champions.

It will be the Presidents' first advance into district play since moving into the Northwest District from the Central Ohio area six years ago.

MANSFIELD and Ashland clash tonight at 8 in the bottom bracket title clash with that winner also moving into district play against the other Lima ruler. Drawings for the district action, scheduled next Friday and Saturday at the Coliseum floor, will be held at a noon luncheon meeting Sunday at the Highway Hotel.

Coach Don Knodel's Presidents never trailed in the championship clash against Shelby although it was a tight battle for the first half.

Stan Larkin dropped in four buckets from outside to pace the Harding attack in the first quarter. His efforts helped the Prexies assume a 6-0 edge before Shelby could find the scoring range. Mike Chamberlain added three field goals to help Harding into a 35-10 first period lead.

The Harding attack stalled during the second period action and Chuck Williams' Whippets grabbed a 14-9 scoring edge to deadlock the score at 24-24 when Dave Livingston dropped in two free throws and Gene George connected from the field as the first half expired.

Field Goals by Chamberlain, Larkin and George Kirk lifted Harding into a 30-24 lead early in the third stanza and from that point, the Marion team pulled ahead steadily. Harding carried a 45-34 cushion into the final eight minutes of play. Kirk was the big scorer in Harding's third-period eruption with nine points.

Chamberlain finished as the big gun for Knodel's winners, pumping in 18 markers. Larkin netted 17 and Kirk collected 14. For Shelby, George was the big gun with 21 markers while Lennie Reidel, dropping in his first six free throws to boost his tournament string to 22 for a new school record, added 16. Larry Siegfried scored 18 straight foul shots in 1957.

Robert S. Brown, superintendent of the Marion City School system, presented the upper bracket championship trophy to Knodel and the Harding squad following the victory.

KNODEL EXPRESSED satisfaction with the performance of his winning squad but admitted some rough spots were noted.

Overall the Harding squad pumped in 24 of 73 field goal attempts for a 33 per cent average but during the second period lapse Bob Middleton scored Harding's only fielder out of 20 attempts.

"We suffered a defensive let-down in that first half," Knodel said, "but at halftime the boys decided to play some basketball." During the third quarter spurt, Harding hit at a 9 for 19 clip from the field. "They started running more and moving the ball on offense," Knodel said.

Rebounding played a vital role in the Presidents' win. Middleton set the pace in that category, pulling in 13. Chuck Campbell had 11 and Chamberlain was credited with 10.

Larkin led the Harding squad in marksmanship with 8 of 15. Chamberlain hit 7 of 18 shots and Kirk connected on 6 of 16. Nine turnovers were charged against the local team.

Knodel indicated today that defensive drills would be stressed in preparation for the district action. "We also must cut down on those silly fouls," he said. "They are still getting us in trouble."

Dave Jenkins Seeking Third World Crown

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Wiry Dave Jenkins of the United States is over the big hurdle and breezing downhill today on the trip to his third straight men's world figure skating championship.

"I'm over the hump when I've finished the school figures," said the weary 22-year-old medical student.

He ranked second behind Tim Brown of Sacramento, Calif., at the finish Friday of the compulsory figures, which count 60 per cent in setting the championship.

Brown scored 694.9 points to 688.1 for Jenkins, of Colorado Springs. Other leaders among the 14 skaters from 8 countries were Alain Giletti of France, 666.3; Don Jackson of Canada, 662.2; and Norbert Felsinger of Austria, 617.7.

The other 40 per cent is determined by free skating tonight. No one comes anywhere near Jenkins in that performance.

Great Britain's top entry, Courtney J. L. Jones and Doreen De Denny, took a narrow lead in the ice dancing competition Friday night over the United States' team of Andree and Donald Jacoby of Buffalo, N.Y. Canada's Geraldine Fenton and William McLachlan, the North American champions, were a close third.

Joe Nuxhall Ready for Good Year

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)— Veteran southpaw Joe Nuxhall says he's not willing to believe the charts that show he rarely wins consistently early in the season.

The Cincinnati Red's hurler said Friday, "In 1955, I had eight or nine wins by the time the all-star game rolled around."

Experts More Scoring
"The last two years, I had trouble winning early. But as I said, we're going to score more runs this season."

"That's why I'm confident that I'll win eight or ten games by all-star time."

Joseph Henry Nuxhall, the hurler who came out of Hamilton High School at age 15 to pitch in a wartime game for the Reds, won 12 and lost 11 for the 1958 Rhinelanders.

A dogged, persistent worker on the mound who hates to walk a batter, lost six of those games last season by one run. And four of the losses were shutouts.

His best season for Cincinnati was 1955 when he won 17, lost 12. But in the last three years, he has averaged only one or more victories less.

Seeks Stride Early
But this year he figures he can win in April and May instead of hitting his stride in the last half of the season.

New Reds' Manager Mayo Smith said he has never seen Nuxhall in better shape. The Hamilton hurler has been working out here for nearly two weeks and is close to the 217 pounds he figures is his best weight.

"I feel great this spring," he said. "I felt good last spring, too, but things just didn't work out."

"This year will be different because we've added considerable power and, as a result, we'll score more runs."

Marion Catholic's Booster Club Sets Election of Officers

The Marion Catholic Booster Club will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school cafeteria.

Highlight of the program will be an election of officers for 1959. In addition, plans will be discussed for purchasing new equipment for both the varsity track team and the junior high football squad, including 7th, 8th and 9th grades.

Funds realized from the club's spaghetti supper, held recently in the school, will be used for the purchases, according to Ralph Niclosi, club publicity chairman.

Ready To Play Third Power Concerned With Batting Mark

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)— Vic Power says he prefers to play first base because he feels more relaxed there, but that he will play anywhere that Cleveland manager Joe Gordon assigns him.

The 27-year-old Puerto Rican walked out on the field with a first baseman's mitt when he reported to the Indians' camp Friday, but was told to switch to third base.

Gordon explained that Larry Doby was being given a trial at first base and that Power would be used at that position only if the experiment failed.

"It's okay," Power said. "Anything you say."

Power, rated the best fielding first baseman in the American League, also is a pretty fair third baseman. He played 42 games at third base after the Indians acquired him from Kansas City last June and made only three errors.

Some observers considered him the Tribe's best fielding third baseman since Ken Keltner, who retired nearly 10 years ago.

Despite the fact that he led the Indians at bat last year with a .312 average, Power is more concerned about his hitting than his position he will play.

"I want to make big money and to do that you have to hit more than .312," he said. "Maybe if I win the batting title I get a big raise."

Delany Seeks Indoor Mark In Mile Event

NEW YORK (AP)—Ron Delany goes after his 30th straight indoor mile victory tonight and it could be the one in which the fabled 4-minute board dream becomes a reality.

Delany will toe the mark in a special during the IC4A Track and Field Championships in Madison Square Garden.

The past two years, Delany, Ireland's Olympic 1,500-meter champion, has helped Villanova to the team championship. But Ron and most of the other Wildcats of '57 and '58 have been graduated.

Title Race Opened Up
Jumbo Jim Elliott's outfit isn't conceding much of a chance of making it three in a row. Instead, most coaches think the scramble for the team title will be the most wide open in many a year.

Delany has a made-to-order field for record-breaking purposes. Only last week he lowered the world indoor mark to 4:02.5 in a bulky field. This time, there are just four others trying to beat him.

The two opponents he must watch the closest are Hungary's Istvan Rozsavolgyi, a member of the 4-minute club outdoors, and Lt. Bill Dillinger of the U.S. Air Force, who lowered the world indoor 2-mile and 3-mile records in three weeks.

Runs Against Clark
It was Rozy who pushed Delany to the new standard last week. The skinny Hungarian runs strictly against the clock and by his own admission likes to break the record for any race he's in.

Dellinger is more of a distance man, but he is no slouch at the mile as evidenced by his 3:41.5 in the 1,500 meters—the fastest at the distance ever recorded by an American.

The other two entries in the special are Phil Coleman, Delany's personal pacemaker the past two years, and Paul Schmidt of Germany.

Top Sluggers Check In for Baseball Drill

This is the day the big bats come into play at American League training camps in Florida and Arizona.

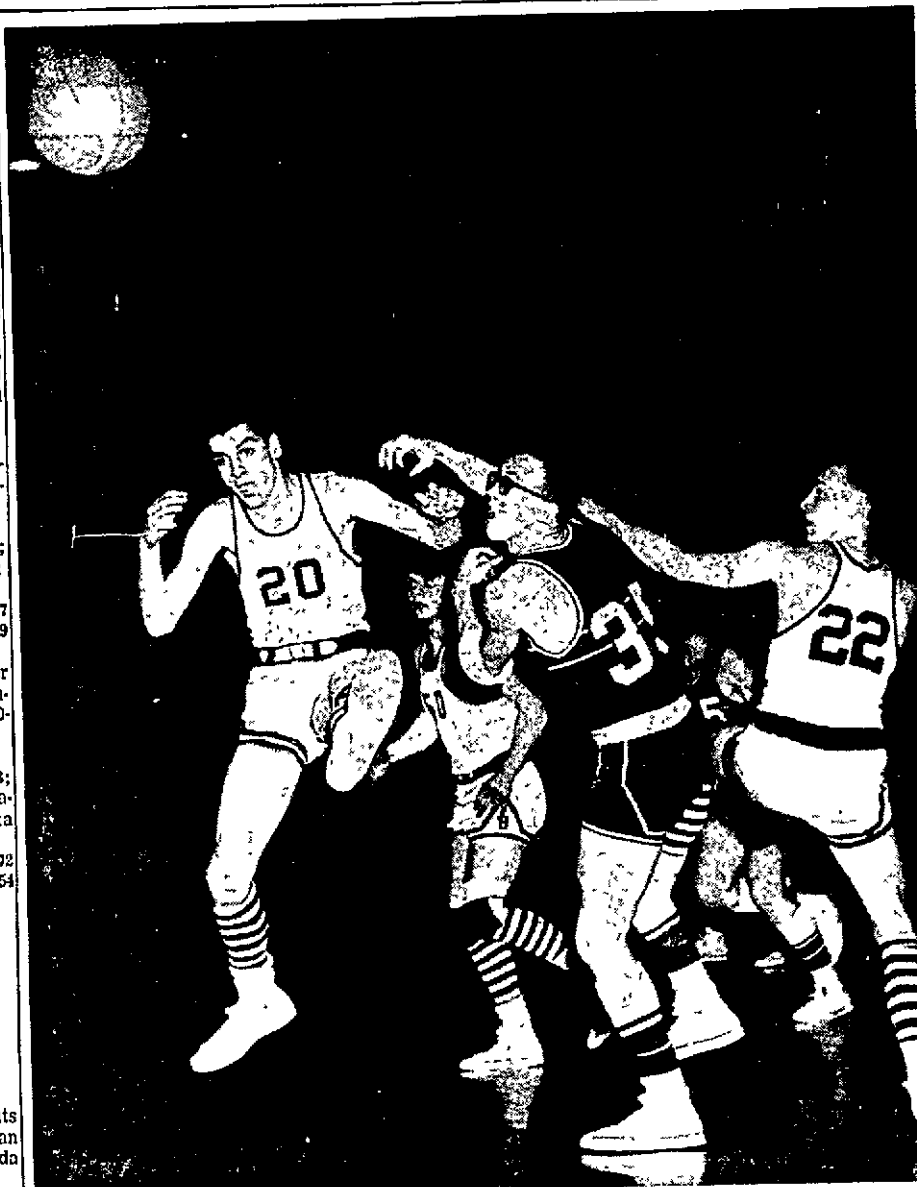

Mickey Mantle starts working out with the New York Yankees at St. Petersburg, Fla. Jackie Jensen begins training with the Boston Red Sox at Scottsdale, Ariz. And Ted Williams, who winters in Florida, is expected at Scottsdale for his first workout.

This powerful trio shared the league's three major hitting titles last season. Williams had a batting average of .328, Mantle hit 42 home runs and Jensen batted in 122 runs. And Jackie, who belted 35 homers and had a .286 average, picked up the Most Valuable Player award in the process.

Mantle, the MVP in 1956 and 1957, signed with the Yankees Friday for $80,000, ending a two-day holdout.

Jensen, a teammate of Mantle on the 1951 Yankees also agreed to terms Friday, but for only half as much, $40,000.

It has been a decade since Williams carried off the MVP award but he signed recently for more than Mantle and Jensen combined. His salary is a reported $125,000.

CONNECTS FOR PRESIDENTS. Stan Larkin, cuts loose with a shot from the keyhole in Harding's 62-49 win over Shelby Friday night. It was one of eight field goals for the Harding ace. Attempting to guard the Prexy veteran are Shelby's Gene George (20) and Larry St. John (22).

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — 33, three-under-par on the front John McMullin, a crew-cut kid of 23, matched his two-stroke lead against a tough, veteran field today in the second round of the $15,000 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament.

The Fair Oaks, Calif., golfer, finished seven strokes under par Friday with a 65.

This was two strokes better than Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., and Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex.

Bunched at 68 were Bob Goaly, Belleville, Ill.; Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., and Mike Souchak, Grossingers, N.Y., while Dave Thomas, London, England, and Bert Weaver, Beaumont, Tex., each had 69.

Although 23 players registered better than par 72 over the ransoaked, 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course, it was McMullin who really took it apart. The youngster stroked a nifty

Deaf-Mute Wins Divorce

By Using Sign Language

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Beatrice Carpenter, a deaf-mute, used sign language to tell a judge her husband was unfaithful. She won a divorce.

Mrs. Carpenter accused her husband, Alonzo Sr., also a deaf-mute, of adultery, the only ground for divorce in New York. Her tale of marital infidelity was interpreted by her son, Alonzo Jr.

The couple was married in 1931. None of their three children is deaf-mutes.

Mother of 11 Killed

CLEVELAND (AP)—The mother of 11 children and her mother-in-law were killed here Friday when their car crashed into a tree on a curve. Killed were Mrs. Jean Mooney, 41, of Rocky River, and Mrs. Mary Mooney, 71. The younger Mrs. Mooney, who was driving, apparently lost control of the car, police said. Two of her children, Michael, 5, and Tommy, 3, were pinned in the wreckage, but were not seriously hurt.

Theater Attractions

Following is a summary of the motion pictures that will be presented at theaters in Marion next week:

—Ohio—

The Ohio Theater will present "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" Sunday through Tuesday. The second feature will be "Flaming Frontier."

"The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker," starring Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire and Charles Coburn, is the story of a man who maintains two separate families in two different towns in Pennsylvania. Since his job allows him to alternate between the two cities by months, everything goes well until his daughter gets engaged.

"Flaming Frontier" is a blood and thunder story of a Union officer who is sent to Ft. Ridgely in Minnesota to effect peace with the rampaging Sioux. He finds upon arrival that money and supplies meant for the Sioux are being stolen. When he becomes romantically involved with the wife of the troublemaker, trouble abounds. The movie stars Bruce Bennett and Don Garrard.

Ingrid Bergman stars in "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness" at the Ohio starting Wednesday. This is the story of a young English servant girl who leaves her position to come to London with the hopes of receiving a missionary assignment in China.

Although she is not qualified for the post, she is given a job with the household of a veteran of China service. Through her service there, she gains her appointment and sets off for China. During the following years, she suffers many hardships, but her love for 100 Chinese children, an Eurasian soldier and God bring her through. This inspiring picture also stars Curt Jurgens and Robert Donat.

On Saturday a children's show beginning at 1:30 will feature six Disney cartoons.

—Palace—

Opening at the Palace Theater Sunday will be the movie which won Academy Award nominations for Deborah Kerr and David Niven. It is "Separate Tables."

which has been hailed as an outstanding production.

The story revolves around the residents of a small British seaside hotel and is a drama of emotions rather than action.

Rita Hayworth is seen as an American divorcee whose poise is pierced to reveal a lonely and frightened woman.

Burt Lancaster stars as the object of Miss Hayworth's longing. Miss Kerr portrays an emotionally retarded and dominated woman, starved for romance.

David Niven appears as an Army major who lives a life of lies because of dislike of self.

The second feature will be "Ten Days to Tulara" starring Sterling Hayden. Hayden stars as a rugged tramp pilot who is tricked into flying a desperate man and his henchmen to a waiting ship on the other side of the continent for fear of his son's safety. The action takes place in South America.

To Your Good Health

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Wash an Abrasion With Soap and Water

"Dear Dr. Molner: When my children get skinned knees or elbows I clean the abrasion with an antiseptic and apply a sterile compress that has an 'antiseptic cream.' Still they usually end up with an infection. What can I do? — Mrs. R.M."

Dr. Molner

An abrasion is a scraping off of the protective layer of skin. A certain amount of dirt (and germs) is ground in.

Usually there is little bleeding — more oozing of blood, rather than the brisk flow from a cut. So such a scrape very usually is sore and red for a day or two due to infection.

The mere application of an antiseptic to the abrasion does not necessarily mean it has been cleansed. Too often, of course, the scraped place is pretty tender, and the tears of the youngster cause mother to be very gentle. Sometimes too gentle.

USUALLY it would be better for mother to use soap and water to wash the abrasion at once — but I know how you feel. You don't want a ruckus as the little fellow protests, and you don't want to hurt him. However, you might try it and discover that it doesn't hurt as much as you (or the youngster) think.

Anyway, once the skin has been scraped off, Nature's first protective step is a flow or leakage of serum, a yellowish material which, when exposed to air, dries and becomes a scab.

The fact is, however, that this material of which the scab is being formed is what the laboratory people would call "a good culture material" for any germs left in the wound. That is, it is a type of material in which germs can multiply. So the way to cleanse such a wound is to get the germs out in the first place, rather than depend on an antiseptic to destroy them — for there is no reason to suppose that applying an antiseptic means that the antiseptic necessarily is going to reach all of the germs. It more likely will not reach all of them.

AS FOR THE bandage, a sterile compress is fine, but remember that if it is loosely attached, dirt and dust can get under the dressing when the youngsters go back to play. A snugly attached dressing is in order. Keep in mind its purpose: To keep dirt (and germs) out.

If, in a day or so, inflammation shows that infection is present, soaking or application of hot wet compresses is in order.

I've mentioned, before this, my recommendation that soap and water is the best first treatment for the incidental wounds and scrapes of childhood, but I don't believe I ever went into detail as to the reasons. Now you have them.

And I'll say again: Washing an abrasion with soap and warm water isn't as painful as you might think. Indeed, a good many times this warm cleansing will be comforting and the soapy water won't sting as much as some of the household antiseptics do.

"Dr. Dr. Molner: Could a person become an alcoholic from drinking too much beer? Would drinking three quarts every evening be too much? I know a person who claims beer gives him energy and makes him feel good. — J.T."

Of course one can become an alcoholic from too much beer. To me, three quarts a night sounds like enough to float a ship — or sink a man. Food will give the man energy, and there ought to be something besides swilling beer that would make him feel good.

NOTE TO MRS. B.C.: I can see no reason at all why a man of 77 and a woman of 71 should not marry. You are worried over whether sex relations "might be fatal to him." The only answer I can give (or anyone can give) is just this: No risk as long as he and you do as you please. Obey nature's orders. Be normal. At 70 plus, don't try to be 21. Nature never deceives her creatures.

Tested tips for all types of diabetes are given in my booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." To receive your copy, write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Judge Overrules Bid for Injunction

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP)—Ash-tabula County Common Pleas Judge Hugh Hewitt Friday ruled against a permanent injunction to halt construction of a Lakeville village water system.

The injunction was sought by A. J. Cummings, treasurer of the Civic Progressive Committee of Lakeville, organized to fight the water project. He said he would appeal.

Judge Hewitt said he found that nothing illegal had been done by the village.

In his taxpayer's suit seeking the injunction, Cummings charged village officials with violating Ohio law contracting to purchase water from the Ash-tabula Water Works Co. without a vote of the people. Water will be supplied by the Ash-tabula firm when Lakeville lays lines.

LOVE DUO. David Niven and Deborah Kerr are thrown together in the dynamic story of "Separate Tables" which also stars Rita Hayworth and Burt Lancaster. The story of conflicts and personal problems of the people staying at a British seaside inn opens at the Palace Theater Sunday.

Bucyrus Area Flood Control Group Forms

BUCYRUS — A planning committee to take steps toward preventing future floods of the Sandusky River here has been formed with John A. Davis, deputy Crawford County engineer, serving as chairman.

The Crawford County Flood Control Committee will work with similar groups in Fremont, Upper Sandusky and Tiffin toward a feasible flood control program.

The county committee includes County Commissioners Ralph Schreck, Roy Eiehorn and Carl Baker, County Engineer Ernest Stetzer, C. C. Richard, safety-service director, E. J. Dager, Fred Dagher and Ferenc Szasz, all of Bucyrus, and Mayors Joe Sullivan of Bucyrus, A. C. Smith of Crestline and Paul Wentzick of New Washington.

It was pointed out that due to filling and lack of forest areas, water drains from land now in a matter of 24 hours rather than the week or more it formerly required.

Bucyrus suffered its most disastrous flood in history on Jan. 21 when the Sandusky River spilled over its banks, resulting in the evacuation of about 50 families from lowland areas. Several industries also suffered extensive damage.

Suggestions for preventing a repetition of last month's flood included the construction of a series of dams or the widening of the mouth of the Sandusky River as it empties into Sandusky Bay.

Longer Doors Grow Popular With Builders

Floor-to-Ceiling Idea Cuts Cost of Upkeep, Improves Flow of Air

By The Associated Press

Floor-to-ceiling doors. And doors that do not even fit into the openings.

These are but two of the new concepts of doors which are getting attention from home building contractors these days. In fact, they have been attracting so much interest at exhibits that door and hardware manufacturers have moved into rapid production to meet expressed and anticipated demands.

In the floor-to-ceiling idea, the door is eight feet high, thus eliminating any wall over the door head, a method of construction said to save both time and money.

Advantages Listed

Adherents of the plan give these other advantages: Improved air circulation because of the elimination of air traps and stagnation over the frame; lower maintenance because of an end to the repair of wall cracks that often appear over door openings; and an appearance of extra spaciousness when doors between adjacent rooms are open.

Nineteen companies already are featuring floor-to-ceiling doors faced with tempered hardboard, which insures surfaces free of blemishes and able to take a pounding without damage.

The new way of hanging a door is the first departure from the traditional standard hanging, casing, trim and lock set pattern. The door overlaps the entire opening in the wall and swings 100 per cent clear of the opening.

Ends Knob Turning

It opens with a straight push or pull action, with no turning of the knob as in a conventional installation. There is no mortising for hinges or strike, nor are wood jambs, stops and face trim required. The latch is mounted in the wall adjacent to the opening. The hinges and a strike are surface-mounted on the doors, and the pulls are mounted back-to-back on the door.

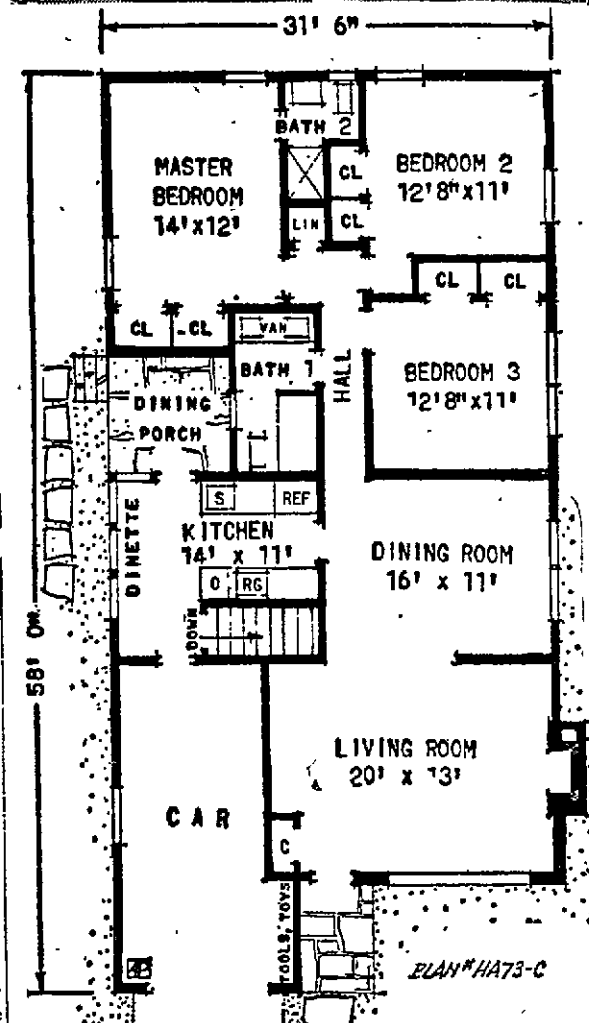

Since the door overlaps the opening, it need not be trimmed to fit exactly. Surface-mounted door hardware for this type of door has been developed by a leading manufacturer of hardware in cooperation with the Research Council of the National Association of Home Builders.

Ranch Fits Narrow Lot

A THREE-BEDROOM RANCH, this home is styled for a narrow lot. It has an integrated garage and is only 31 feet 6 inches wide. There are two bedrooms, large living room, dining room and kitchen. The plan is HA73-C by Architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y. Excluding the garage, the floor area is 1,396 square feet.

YOUR HOME... Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

A vast amount of home improvement is done after the weather changes and the need for outdoor work has ceased. In many cases this improvement takes the form of cabinet work, painting, or other tasks which are not large in themselves, but which make a decided improvement in the overall appearance of the home. Quite a bit of the cabinet or woodwork is done with the aid of unfinished built-in furniture, which has been improved in style and design steadily during the last 10 years.

Often the home mechanic who is fitting a new book cabinet or set of shelves against a wall finds that he has a gap where the back or sides of the piece touch the wall. He also finds that even after painting there is a rather unfinished appearance, as though the new piece had been placed against the wall or in a corner and simply left to stand there.

There is a very simple and inexpensive remedy for this situation. It consists of using molding, either plain or ornamental, around the back edges of the top and sides. This fills in any openings caused by an uneven wall and lends a finished and workmanlike air to the project.

The use of molding will be found very effective in many other places, such as over a newly tiled floor where it meets the baseboard, around window and door trim which is skimpy and light looking or in any other spot that requires a bit of dressing up. (The Bell Syndicate)

Contracts Hit $2.3 Billion in U.S., Gain 12%

NEW YORK — F. W. Dodge Corp. today announced that contracts for future construction in the United States in January totaled $2,319,167,000, up 12 per cent compared to January 1958. The report does not include Alaska.

George Cline Smith, Dodge vice president and economist, said the increase "was due primarily to high levels of activity in the residential category with contracts for one- and two-family houses and apartments registering sharp gains."

Dollar volume of contracts for residential building in January totaled $1,021,516,000, an increase of 31 per cent over the similar 1958 month. The number of dwelling units represented by these contracts was 84,166, up 33 per cent compared to January 1958.

January non-residential contracts amounted to $818,225,000, a gain of 8 per cent over the like 1958 month. Besides the substantial increases registered in contracts for commercial, hospital, and social and recreational buildings, gains also were reported in contracts for religious and miscellaneous non-residential buildings.

In the heavy engineering category in January, contracts totaled $479,426,000, down 10 per cent compared to January 1958. While public works, aided by contracts for streets and highways, showed an increase, utilities were down because of a sharp drop in contracts for electric light and power systems.

DiSalle Worried About Children in Practice CD Alert

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What happens to the kids?

That was the question raised during Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's cabinet meeting Friday. The problem is what to do with children who would be sent home from Ohio schools during a nationwide civil defense alert April 17.

Dr. E. E. Holt, state superintendent of public instruction, pointed out that many of these children's parents will be working when the alert is sounded. Adj. Gen. Loren Windom said schools definitely will be included in the alert. He said he was concerned about whether the school dismissal would conflict with state requirements that each pupil attend 176 days a year.

DiSalle asked Windom and Holt to try to come up with a solution to the problem.

DiSalle also asked four cabinet members to look into the possibility of Ohio taking over Navy facilities at Port Columbus Airport. The Navy plans to abandon its air station there by June 30.

Windom said Ohio National Guard planes and other state-owned aircraft could be housed in the two hangers to be abandoned.

Dream Too Realistic

LOS ANGELES (AP)—He was walking in his sleep, Clyde said. And he was dreaming. Dreaming that the house he was entering was his grandma's, and a meal of fried chicken and cookies awaited him.

It naturally came as a great surprise, Clyde said, when a woman's scream awakened him and a policeman arrested him on suspicion of burglary.

A judge listened kindly Friday and then sentenced Clyde McCall, 21, to 100 days in jail on a charge of trespassing.

First Aid to the Ailing House

By ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a cotton-nylon tweed rug which is puppy-stained. Commercial rug cleaners say they can't get the stains out. Can you suggest anything?

A: Make a solution of one teaspoon of a neutral detergent powder, one teaspoon of white vinegar and a quart of warm water. Sponge the stains with this solution, allowing it to remain about 10 minutes; then sponge up with clean, moist (clear water) sponge or cloth and blot dry. Be sure to protect the floor underneath while treating stains. I recommend sending for a copy of "Care of Rugs and Carpets," available from the American Carpet Institute, Inc., 350th Fifth Ave., New York 1, N.Y.

Q: While our kitchen faucet is turned on, the running water seems to cause a rumbling in the pipe. What causes this?

A: Noise in a water line, when the faucet is turned on and the water running, generally is caused by a loosened or worn washer, faucet part or loosened support under horizontal lengths of piping. Another source of trouble might be a shut-off valve not open sufficiently to permit the water to flow freely.

City Permits For Building

One building permit with a valuation of $40,000 was issued at the office of Mrs. Alta Sheehy, city clerk, in the period from Feb. 19-26.

It was issued to Hamilton Brothers of the Bucyrus Pike for the Hamilton Bldg. at 196 S. Prospect St. and was for remodeling of the first floor of the building for use by the General Telephone Co. of Ohio. General Telephone now has offices on the second floor of the building connected to its headquarters building on S. Main St. by an overhead enclosed passageway.

Building Permits In the Township

The following zoning permits were issued in Marion Township during the week:

Glen E. Sand of 349 Spencer St., residence on Pole Lane Rd. Bethel R. Hurst of 197 Superior St., residence at the corner of Bexley Ave. and Harding Rd. Deskins and Miller of near Marion, residence on Forest Lawn Dr. A building permit was refused to John A. Maxwell Jr. of 338 Brightwood Dr. for a residence on Leetonia Rd. because proposed construction came to less than 20 feet of existing lot lines.

Injuries Prove Fatal

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police said Robert Doyatt, 9, died Friday of injuries suffered earlier in the day when he ran into a street and was struck by a car near his home.

Soil Acidity Determines Amount of Lime Needed

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer
CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — As sulphur-and-molasses is the old-fashioned traditional spring treatment for people, an early spring treatment for soil is lime. And because it is a well-known, much respected improver of soil, a lot of lawns and gardens receive their annual dosage whether or not they need it.

Most people, including non-gardeners, know that the prime function of lime is to alkalize or sweeten — acid soil. Many gardeners who administer an annual dose of lime assume that their soil is acid when a simple test would show that it is, on the contrary, already naturally and adequately supplied with calcium, which is what limestone is.

MOST PLANTS, however, grow and flourish in soil which is in the neutral range of acidity and alkalinity. Scientists have developed a scale by which to measure acidity. It is called a pH scale and runs down 1 — for complete acidity — to 14 — for complete alkalinity. Seven, of course, is neutral, and good growing soils range between 5 and 9.

Sometimes symptoms of "sour" soil — moss and fungus growth for instance — may not be signs of extreme acidity at all. Before getting out and flinging lime around the lawn and garden beds, therefore, it is wise — and often worksaving — to test soil samples. Slips of litmus paper can be obtained in most drug stores. They come in red and blue colors. Take a small quantity of soil, moisten it, and slip some of the paper in a slit in the soil. If the blue paper turns red, the soil is acid; if the red paper turns blue, the soil is alkaline; if either paper turns purple, the soil is neutral. Gardeners with soil-testing sets have means for making more precise tests.

EVEN WITHOUT testing, it is fairly easy to guess what kind of soil one has by looking around the neighborhood. If you see that there are many acid-loving trees and shrubs — rhododendron, laurel, azalea, evergreens and oak, for instance — growing healthily and happily, chances are the ground is on the acid side of the scale.

It is easier and cheaper to sweeten acid soil than it is to increase acidity in alkaline soil. The latter is best done by mulching and digging into the soil such acid-releasing materials as peat moss, oakleaf mold. Acid soil can be sweetened by working in lime — which is not expensive — spread at a rate of some 100 to 200 pounds to an acre 50 feet square.

Hydrated — powdered lime — works faster, but is more mossy to handle. Agricultural lime, which is a coarser grind, does not cake or blow around, but works slower. There probably is a great deal of unnecessary liming done every year, particularly by lawnowners and gardeners who live in large areas in the nation where much of the soil is underlaid with limestone, marble and some other rocks which contain much calcium.

Acid soil, on the other hand, usually lies over such acid-producing rocks as granite, quartz, slate, shale and sandstone. In such cases, the struggle for so-called "sweet" soil is a steady one which requires annual applications of lime.

Columbus Electric Firm Faces Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A strike will be called at midnight tonight against the Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric Co. "Unless somebody comes up with something new" in a contract for 1,300 workers, a union representative has warned.

A spokesman for the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers issued that statement after contract negotiations broke off Friday night between the union and the power firm.

The talks are slated on the union's demand for a 10-cent hourly pay increase for linemen.

The company serves customers in 23 central and southern Ohio counties. It said it plans to have supervisory personnel fill in if the strike materializes.

Sign New Contract

CINCINNATI (AP) — Production is slated to resume next Monday at AVCO Manufacturing Co.'s Evendale plant after approval by 23 machinists union employees of a new three-year contract. The group ratified a new agreement Friday providing a 10-cent hourly wage increase in each year. Their average pay under the old agreement was $2.80. Last Wednesday, 450 electrical workers union employees ended a month-long walkout by agreeing to a new contract.

Here's How

Knowledge of Business Is Important for Women

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Women generally outlive their husbands, says Nancy B. Staub, trust officer of a New Jersey bank, and they should learn how to be financially reliant.

"You must realize," the woman banker adds, "that the roof over your head isn't permanent unless some provision has been made to take care of the mortgage in the event of his death."

There are a number of ways to do this, Mrs. Staub says. "Term insurance is one. A plan that reduces with the mortgage is the most popular. Under this plan the largest part of the payments are made during the years when the husband's income can meet the payments. If he doesn't live out the insurance term, the mortgage is paid off when he dies."

One out of every two women who become widows can expect to live 20 or more years, Mrs. Staub says, and she strongly urges all women to have basic business education.

"If they don't use it in actual business later," she points out, "they can use it in everyday life — just doing budgets at home or learning how to make good use of surplus cash."

It's a great mistake for a husband to keep his wife in ignorance of his finances, Mrs. Staub says, and she offers the following suggestions to wives:

1. If you've had no previous business experience, learn how your husband handles family budget matters. Keep the family checking account. Ask your husband to point out how he takes care of these matters.

2. Learn a job you can fall back on. There is great security in knowing you can make your own way. A job can keep your mind active, too, during trying days after a loss.

3. Get to know the people who take care of your family's finances — insurance men, stock brokers, lawyers, and the trust officer of your husband's bank.

4. Be sure your husband's will is up to date. Changes in the estate, the family group, and tax and other laws make it important. 5. Put extra money for emergencies in a separate savings or checking account at your local bank.

6. Pressure your husband to put down in writing what to do in a crisis just in case you need to know some day.

Ohio Bell Contract To Expire Tonight

CLEVELAND (AP) — The present contract between Ohio Bell Telephone Co. and the Communications Workers of America expires at midnight tonight. However, company negotiators are optimistic that a new agreement will be reached.

So far, there has been no indication of a strike. After a meeting Friday, company representatives said they were "making progress" on a new contract covering 17,000 Ohio Bell employees. Negotiations began about a month ago.

Contract demands have not been announced.

Wants Complete Investigation

DiSalle To Insist on Budget Revision

By DUANE E. CROFT
Marion Star Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — This is "Budget Message Week" in Ohio, and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle has indicated that both the legislators and the citizens are going to get more than they figured on in more ways than one.

It has been no secret that there will be a considerable amount of upgrading on the revenue side of the state's ledger. There has been so much speculation on the subject that many observers feel they can pretty well predict what taxes the governor is going to ask increases on and how much they will amount to.

But DiSalle revealed at a press conference Thursday that he is going to go a good deal further in his budget message than merely listing income and outgo.

He is going to ask for a revision of the entire budget-making process.

"We could have used a whole year to plan this budget," he said. "I don't feel we can do a satisfactory job without getting complete information. It's just impossible to do that between Jan. 12 and March 5."

By complete information, the governor said he means an item-by-item investigation of every request. He believes virtually every penny should be justified.

As an example, he said a departmental budget may come to him listing four million dollars for this, four million for that and two million for incidental expenses. "I'd like to find out what the incidental expenses are," he explained.

Another practice that needs correcting, DiSalle said, is putting escalator clauses into legislation. This, he complained, automatically commits the state to spending more money just to stand still. He cited the school foundation program and annual pay increases for state employees as examples.

"You could never operate a business that way," he added. "You don't bind yourself to an obligation unless you know you can meet it."

The governor said his budget message will be "complete and clear" on what he thinks can be done about correcting the budgetary procedure.

But he added that whether the Legislature acts on his suggestions or not, things will be different as far as the next budget is concerned. He plans to start work on it as soon as the present one is settled.

That will give him a year and a half to whip it into shape.

To Sing or Shoot?

Despite all the conversation on taxes and spending, mail to legislators would indicate the taxpayers are not worried about them primarily.

One of the leading subjects of citizens' letters is the quail. Should he be hunted or not?

While the issue is the subject of much jesting among bystanders, it's a serious matter to the principals in the fight over the perennial legislation to change the bob white's status.

Consequently, a real floor battle looms in the House when the present proposal to allow an annual hunting season comes up for a vote. Opponents are marshaling their forces to return the quail to the non-game bird list.

The small fowl was on the so-called song bird list from 1913 to 1949, when it was classified as a game bird "for propagation purposes only" for a period of 10 years. This was to permit the possession of quail for breeding.

If that provision is allowed simply to expire without any further legislative action this session, the Wildlife Council would have the authority to set hunting seasons.

Sportsmen, however, are pushing the present bill to spell out that authority in black and white. Opponents, on the other hand, are fighting to return the quail to the "song bird" list to make sure it will not fall victim to hunters' attacks.

Sportsmen argue that, through artificial breeding as well as natural adaptation, quail are plentiful. They say, therefore, there is no justification for further protection and emphasize that 37 other states permit quail hunting.

Opponents declare that artificial breeding produces inferior birds—birds that do not survive after release and that the bob white again will be in danger of extinction.

tion if the sportsmen get their way. The floor fight promises to be one of the hottest — and to many people on both sides one of the most important — of the 103rd Assembly.

A Break for Dads

Rep. Martin Galvin (D-Toledo) had the state's fathers at heart when he introduced a bill recently to require toy dealers to label their merchandise as assembled or unassembled.

The measure also would entitle the buyer to a written guarantee that all the parts of an unassembled toy are in the package as well as directions for putting them together.

To justify his introduction of the proposal, Galvin explained that he still has not been able to put together a wagon he bought last Christmas because the package contained the wrong parts.

Sen. J. Sherman Porter (D-Gal-

Although he is a freshman in the Senate, he won the honor of offering the routine resolution ordering the publication of weekly bulletins of the Assembly's work. The bulletins are distributed to members and employees of both houses as well as the press.

Now every Monday a new edition of the bulletin appears, bearing on its cover Porter's name as the "author."

Parley Sought Next Week in News Walkout

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Federal Mediator George H. Bell says the mediation service probably will ask management and union officials to resume joint negotiations sometime next week in an effort to end a pressmen's strike against this city's three daily newspapers.

The Columbus Dispatch and Citizen, afternoon papers, and the Ohio State Journal, a morning paper, have not printed since the Columbus West Pressmen's Union Local 15, struck the three dailies Thursday night in a contract dispute.

Negotiations broke off Wednesday. Bell conferred individually with the publishers' committee and the union Friday. He issued a statement which gave no indication of an immediate end to the walkout.

All three newspapers began furloughing idle workers. They employ about 1,700 persons, excluding some 6,000 newspaper carriers. Spokesmen for Local 15 of the American Newspaper Guild referred to the furloughing as a "lockout."

About 70 pressmen have stymied the combined 375,000 daily circulation of the three newspapers. The pressmen have thrown up picket lines at all entrances to the Dispatch - Journal and Citizen buildings.

The publishers said they have offered the pressmen a two-year contract providing for a wage package increase of about 9 percent.

They said the union scaled down its original demand of a 20 percent wage boost to about 12 percent. The union wants a one-year contract.

Pressmen on the day shift work 37½ hours a week and receive $118.18. Night shift workers get $123.18 for a 35-hour week.

The union claims that the major stumbling block in negotiations is Saturday night premium pay. The pressmen want time-and-a-half pay after the first five hours of work Saturday night. Publishers, the union said, want to stick to the present plan: time-and-a-half for the first hour after 6½ hours work, and double time after that.

Galion Pair Overcome

By Gas Fumes in Home

GALION — A Galion area woman was admitted to Community Hospital here early today after breathing fumes from bottled gas at her home.

She was identified as Mrs. John Rizer, 51. Hospital officials said she and her husband, aged 53, were brought to the hospital at 6:30 a.m. by a daughter.

The couple explained that they were nearly overcome with bottled gas fumes when they got up early this morning. Mrs. Rizer was unconscious when she arrived at the hospital. Her husband was treated and released.

The Columbus Dispatch and Citizen, afternoon papers, and the Ohio State Journal, a morning paper, have not printed since the Columbus West Pressmen's Union Local 15, struck the three dailies Thursday night in a contract dispute.

Negotiations broke off Wednesday. Bell conferred individually with the publishers' committee and the union Friday. He issued a statement which gave no indication of an immediate end to the walkout.

All three newspapers began furloughing idle workers. They employ about 1,700 persons, excluding some 6,000 newspaper carriers. Spokesmen for Local 15 of the American Newspaper Guild referred to the furloughing as a "lockout."

About 70 pressmen have stymied the combined 375,000 daily circulation of the three newspapers. The pressmen have thrown up picket lines at all entrances to the Dispatch - Journal and Citizen buildings.

The publishers said they have offered the pressmen a two-year contract providing for a wage package increase of about 9 percent.

They said the union scaled down its original demand of a 20 percent wage boost to about 12 percent. The union wants a one-year contract.

Pressmen on the day shift work 37½ hours a week and receive $118.18. Night shift workers get $123.18 for a 35-hour week.

The union claims that the major stumbling block in negotiations is Saturday night premium pay. The pressmen want time-and-a-half pay after the first five hours of work Saturday night. Publishers, the union said, want to stick to the present plan: time-and-a-half for the first hour after 6½ hours work, and double time after that.

Farm Family Must House Calf In Living Room While Young

MEDINA, Ohio (AP) — How, while she sleeps in a straw-filled about a six-day-old calf for a pet—or is it a patient?

Much to the chagrin of Mrs. George Wolcott, a 20-pound Holstein calf—they call her squirt—rumps in the Wolcott living room. The Wolcotts operate a dairy farm west of Wadsworth.

Squirt, born two months prematurely, weighs 40 pounds less than a normal calf. This means special treatment: A bottle of milk every four hours, night and day, and a heat lamp to keep her warm.

“Our veterinarian was surprised she lived at all,” Mrs. Wolcott said and added: “What could I do?”

“I couldn’t let her die, and she needs constant attention.”

But animals in the Wolcott house aren’t anything new.

“Last spring,” Mrs. Wolcott explains, “the girls made me bring a tiny pig, the runt of the litter, in the kitchen until we felt it could survive.” The girls are Delores, 16, Phyllis, 15, and Carol, 6.

“I don’t know how long I’ll have to keep this baby in here,” she said referring to Squirt.

Crestline Woman Held for Jurors in Jail Escape Plot

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Genevieve Barker, 23, of Crestline, who allegedly attempted to smuggle two hacksaw blades to a prisoner in the Crawford County Jail here Tuesday, pleaded innocent at her arraignment Friday and was bound over to the grand jury.

The woman was arraigned before County Judge F. H. Baer-kircher and her bond set at $500. Unable to post the amount, she was committed to the Crawford County Jail. Her plea was entered by C. F. Purdy, Bucyrus attorney.

Mrs. Barker was charged by Sheriff Elwood Jacobs with attempting to pass implements to aid in the escape of a prisoner.

During the hearing the sheriff alleged that Mrs. Barker concealed the two hacksaw blades in a loaf of bread which she placed in a bag.

According to the sheriff's testimony, Mrs. Barker delivered the bag to the jail Tuesday afternoon for Charles Taylor of Galion. The bag also contained cigarettes, matches and food, Sheriff Jacobs explained.

The blades were found after she left the jail. Mrs. Barker was picked up Thursday night by Crestline police.

Taylor was jailed Jan. 27 for a total sentence of 330 days in the county jail and $200 in fines on one count of driving without an operator's license and three charges of resisting arrest.

Authorities said Mrs. Barker is separated from her husband and Taylor is reported to have a wife and three children in Mansfield.

An 18-year-old Marion youth was taken to General Hospital early today for treatment of multiple cuts on his face and head he said were inflicted by three men who grabbed him on N. Main St. at the second alley north of Center St.

Police said they found Steve Flesher of 135 N. Grand Ave. wandering around in a daze with what appeared to be razor cuts on his face in several places.

He told police he was walking south along the east side of N. Main St. and the three men, who he said he had never seen before, grabbed him, pulled him into the alley and starting beating him. He said he fought two of them before they grabbed him and held him while the third man "worked" him over. He also told police the trio did not attempt to rob him. He was released after treatment at the hospital.
